Abolishing the Department of Buildings.

SAFEGUARDS FOR SAVINGS BANKS.

How Two Millions May Be Saved to New York.

The two houses adjourned to-day until Monday. The were introduced, the most important being one by Mr. Chris Flecke to abolish the Department of Buildings in

The bill to pay the ejected clerks of the civil district ourts was passed after a good deal more discusthe new to the places of the old ones is still to be who have cut their eye teeth and quit school, con-numing valuable time over such a picayune subject as this concerning half a dozen obscure clerks, who were appointed in good faith and are entitled to the money they seek.

Mr. Cowdin has taken a pause in the work of legis-lating for New York city. He says there are quite ugh bills on hand now to occupy the full attention, by day, of the Committee on Cities. In fact, they are overcrowded. In no session for years has one committee, in a few weeks, been called on to take charge of such a mass of matter. There are lifty bills t least referring to New York, and more than that umber to Brooklyn. The latter city has come to be number to Brooklyn. The latter city has come to be an unmitigated nuisance to the committee. To widen, open or extend a street has to be aone by logislative enactment, and the consequence is a great influx of petty bills that should properly come under the cognizance and authority of the Board of Aldermen. Mr. Cowdin bolieves that many bills inoduced this session, if carefully scrutinized, would be und to be mere re-enactments of existing laws. He of Aldermen. Mr. Cowdin bolieves that many bills introduced this session, it carefully scrutinized, would be found to be mere re-enactments of existing laws. He has a bill himself in regard to the appointment of a sommission to investigate the expenditures of the city povernmen, and see where and how the expenses should be curtailed, but if he read the charter he would find that power is vested in the Board of Estimate and Apportunement to accomplish the end he has in view by reducing the expenses of the departments by lopping off unnecessary ciercal lorce and cutting down exceptions stated in the charter, but Mayor Elymay be disposed to use the power it confers and secure an annual saving to the city of about $2,000,000.

SAPROCARDS FOR SAVINGS BANKS.

The Committee on Banks will give next week the thietest share of its attention to framing a bill for the better protection of depositors in savings banks. They have before them a bill of Mr. Holahan's, the beating leature of which is that a guarantee fund to be derived from a fractional per cont of the depositors in savings banks. They have before them a bill of Mr. Holahan's, the beating leature of which is that a guarantee fund to be derived from a fractional per cont of the depositors that all surpluses over five per cent of the gross liabilities of each savings bank should be added thereto. Mr. Holahan's bill provides for a tax of one seventh of one per cent on the assets, but some experienced banking men oppose touching the assets and declare in lavor of gobbling all the profits. There is one weak spot in the laws relating to savings banks. A provision exists that no savings bank shall loan money directly or indirectly to any officer or trustee, thus trying to guard against the dangerous place to be found in and around these banks. An amendment is demanded here to the effect that each trustee and officer should be required to swear that no violation of that provision had taken place the past year to either his knowledge, belief or information, and this affl

Mr. Strahan made a large number of adverse reports this morning from the Committee on Judiciary. This process of adverse reporting is like house cleaning—all the rubbish is swept together and thrown out of doors, and only matters of interest and importance doors, and only matters of interest and importance are retained.

PURDY'S RESOLUTION.

Mr. Purdy says he intends to call up his resolution asking for a special committee to investigate the life insurance companies next Monday, in this, it he be in carpicat, he will hardly succeed, as the standing committee will resent it as an insuit, especially as they have no business to engage their attention, and should be able to do quite as well as any special committee. The last special committee on this tack went to New York, locked themselves up in the room of a hotel, and sent round to the presidents of the insurance companies to come and see them and itx things. Special committees are not in good odor since then.

Contracts for Croton water.

Dr. Hayes introduced a bill authorizing the Commissioner of Public Works to advertise for proposals for the sale of Croton water for shipping and building purposes, &c., for a term not exceeding three years. Ten inspectors shall be appointed to see that the contractor faithfully discharges his duty.

Mr. O'Hare introduced a bill, providing that hereafter any trustee or officer of a savings bank who shall mesappropriate the funds on deposit shall be guilty of a felony and be sentenced to hard labor for a period of not less than two years and a fine of three times the amount stoles.

DISASTROUS SPECULATIONS.

FLIGHT OF A PROKER AND A CONFIDENTIAL

BOOKKEEPER About the Cotton Exchange yesterday there w considerable talk concerning the flight of a broker and a confidential bookkeeper, whose respective firms are located near the Exchange. The fugitive broker was Mr. August Quack, of Quack & Burger, No. 89 Pearl street, and the bookkeeper was one who had been in the employ of Mr. Isaac Bell, Jr., whose office is a few ors off. Both are supposed to have squandered in eculation the money whose loss was discovered on their flight Speaking of his departed partner yester-their flight Speaking of his departed partner yester-day Mr. Burger said:—

We went into partnership on the lat of January for the purpose of transacting a strictly brokerage business in cotion, and for that purpose I put in a certain amount of capital. We had inserted a special article in our copartnership papers forbidding speculation for our joint or separate accounts, and a vicilation of that provision would make void the partnership. Our business went on satisfactorily until I found entries of pretended transactions on the books not covered by any margins to the credit of certain persons with whom we were doing business. Then I spoke to him about the matter, and he said he would call on them and get the money when it was needed. The credit of those persons with whom he had generally to deal on 'Change was so good that for some time I did not suspect anything was wrong, especially as I had the fullest confidence in him. After a time it seemed as I he was neglecting what was his particular duty—to call on them to make good, their margins—and I told him if he did not attend to the matter at once I should call on them myself. I; left that I had already held off long enough, even in view of the considerations I have mentioned. Our last-conversation on this subject was on last Tuesday morning, and he left me with a promise to return with the money. Since then he has not returned to the office and his absence led to an investigation which showed that the pretended transactions on 'Change, and I sam the principal loser by his peculations. I have seen it reported that the amounts lost by him before going little partnership with me were from $50,000 to $70,600, but this I believe to be a great exaggeration. He never had so much to lose.

Mr. Burger expressed great regret for the features. ad so much to lose. Mr. Burger expressed great regret for the fugitive's wife, a lady who belongs to an excellent family, he says, and who is greatly to be pitted in consequence of his flight. She has been deserted with her two childrens.

The absent bookkeeper's peculations are said to amount to several thousand dollars. He, too, left a wife and family behind him.

SAVINGS BANKS.

TEN REPORTS FROM THE BANKING DEPART-MENT-OPEN ACCOUNTS FALLING OFF-ANOTHER INDICATION OF HVRD TIMES.

ANOTHER INDICATION OF HYRD TIMES.

ALEANY, Peb. 2, 1877.

The reports of the savings banks come in slowly to the Banking Department. The ten reports which follow are suggestive, in a very high degree, of the condition of the inoderate class of New York city who place their earnings in these institutions. It will be seen that in a large proportion of these the open accounts have fallen off during the year, and in several where the amount, deposited has been considerably others the amount deposited has been considerably less than the amount withdraws. No suggestion could

HENZY'S CAPTSURE.

While Officer Henzy, of the Eighth precinct, was pa-trolling his post, on Canal street, last night, he saw three men acting suspiciously. After some time he saw one of the men seize a box from an express wagon standing in the street and run away. At once he gave chase and came up with them in Cortlandt alley. When he tried to arrest them they set upon him, knocked him down and beat him. During the mêlêe the efficer drew his revolver, and placing the muzzle of the weapon at Gordon's head, asked him to surrender. The other men, seeing the pistol, ran away. Gordon was taken to the Prince street station house, whore he was receipting the pistol, ran away. Gordon was taken to the Prince street station house, whore he was receipting by Captain McDonnell as a notorious thier, with the aims of "Sweeny," after which he was locked up. The box stellen was found to consum tobacco to the value of $30, and belonged to Charles Maillard, of No. 150 Maiden lane. The police are now looking for Gwdon's confederates. The prisoner will be arraigned at the Washington Place Court-this morning. saw one of the men seize a box from an express wagon

CATHOLICITY AND PROTESTANTISM COMPARED. CATHOLICITY AND PROTESTANTISM COMPARED.

Mr. Roocher presided over his prayer meeting last night for the last time prior to his departure from the city for an absence of several weeks. The lecture room was not nearly so well filled as usual owing to the inciemency of the weather. After the regular xercises Mr. Beecher said:—The whole tendency of the New Testament is toward the broadening of human nature and toward the establishment of the individual in liberty. "Individual severeigsty" in our day has become a cant phrase almost, but in Paul's days it did not mean a stripping off, but a putting on. The idea of the eighty" in our day has become a cant phrase almost, but in Paul's days it did not mean a stripping off, but a putting on. The idea of the eposite was to bring up every individual into such personal relations with the Divine nature that he should be filled with the inspiration of God, which should lead him into all truth.

With this view there are two general systems under criticism. One, the system of a churen which provides for men such rules and regulations and laws that they can hardly go amiss. I have often had occasion to speak of the ramifications which exist in many churches for the building up of a person in the faith. So long as persons are so weak that they cannot provide for themselves such institutions are necessary. The people are told exactly what to do; the minister visits, inspects, catechies, all of which has a certain use and all of which has a certain use and all of which less pre-ounteently adapted for a beginning. But the end all the time in making such provisions for weakness is to cire the weak, and enable them to do for themselves what has been done for them. In other words the religious life should be like the bringing up of children. Some parents look after every movement of their children so closely that they never learn to depend upon themselves, and sometimes the result in, when importly is reached, a rebound, I have heard it said of the children of good people—I have even heard it said of the children of good people—I have even heard it said of the children of good people—I have even heard it said show that for generations the children of ministers—that they don't turn out well; which is false, for the sustsites of New Egland show that for generations the children of ministers have turned out better than anybody else's.

THE CATROLIC AND THE PROTESTANT STATKEN.

Take the Roman Church—there is much in it that is admirable, but there are two elements in it which stand directly opposite to Protestantism. First, it has an incorporate conscious that have a small of an admirable and the
